Diving

The Great Astrolabe Reef is the world's fourth largest barrier reef and is Fiji's largest living organism. It extends along the entire southern side of Kadavu and stretches for over 120 km. It is rated as one of the world's premier diving locations offering a great diversity and spectacle in coral structures and marine life.

The reef adopted its name in 1827 following French explorer Dumont d'Urville's collision with the reef in his vessel "The Astrolabe". Spectacular Dive Sites and exclusive diving on virgin reefs awaits those who dive at Matava, with over 20 world-class sites offering enormous variety for divers of all levels within a 5-minute to half hour boat ride.

Accommodation

At Matava, traditional thatched bures are nestled in the rainforest offering privacy, comfort and some superb ocean views. The new main building is the gathering place for guests to have meals and just relax. Matava currently offers two different levels of ensuite bure accommodation. All bures are fitted with solar lighting. There are no air conditioners nor fans. The evening breeze is all you need to cool the airy built bures.

Restaurant

Dining at Matava is a casual and very social experience which takes place on the balcony of the 'bure levu', or on the large deck next to the water. Guests gather from around the world meet for papaya salad, mango chicken, coconut curries and sashimi while sharing conversation and friendship. Meals are offered as a package; comprising a continental style breakfast, lunch, and a three - course dinner extravaganza.
